

James Muldoon.

James Muldoon

James P. Muldoon of Dearborn died on Sunday, June 8 in his home of complications from double pneumonia.

Muldoon worked as a systems administrator for various certified public accountant firms and as music director and organist for Transfiguration Catholic Church in Detroit.

"Jimberly" as he was known to his friends was a regular at the Hayloft and the Adam's Apple and its predecessor Ken's Pub. Muldoon loved working in his garden, tinkering with his car, watching episodes of Star Trek and debating current social issues.

His family handled disposition of the body with no funeral service or memorial service conducted. His friends held a memorial in celebration of his life on Sunday, June 29 at the Hayloft Saloon.
